This section reports on some key SEO indicators that play a big part in how high your business ranks in search engine results. We generate some of this data through our own proprietary systems; other data we pull in from trusted partners who are experts in their fields.

This section reports the positions ('rankings') that your website or business appears in for your important keywords. We report on your rankings in the two largest search engines (Google and Bing) within their local offerings (Google Maps and Bing Local).

Within the search results we look for your website/business name and show you the position in which you appear. If we find more than 1 result for your website/business then we will report multiple results in the ranking results table. We look through the top 50 results and if you don't appear in the top 50 we return a result of >50.

You obviously want to appear as high up the search rankings as possible so lower numbers are good. The aim should be for you to appear in positions 1, 2 & 3 as many times as possible. If you have lots of >50 results that means you have a lot of work to do, but everything to gain - the only way is up!

For local businesses, it's critical that their address and contact information is correct and consistent across the web. This provides reliable information to Google about your business and also ensures that your customers can find you or contact you.

This section audits the most powerful online directories and reports back on whether you do or don't have a listing there. If you do, we check if your information is complete and consistent, and highlight any errors so you know what needs fixing. These directories can be a direct source of new customers but they can also boost your local ranking within Google.

In my search for a law firm to help me with my handicapped sister negligence case Levin & Perconti responded. I was very grateful and hopeful they would help me get some kind of answers and justice for my sister who eventually passed away. For 7 months I provided all information requested from L&P, and 6weeks after my sister's passing I was told Levin & Perconti would not Perdue a case. I was heartbroken to say the least, then angered that it would take 7 months for that decision. Valuable time wasted when I could and should have been told that in 60 - 90days. I did see on the news that L&P recently took on a more high profile case, perhaps that's the reason. The rating is based solely on their responding and early interest.

Marvet is an amazing attorney. I have worked with her for many years unvarying capacities and she has always gone above and beyond to deliver the best work product. She cares about all her cases as if they were her own and does her best to make clients feel at ease.

I am impressed with Levin & Perconti. They have extensive knowledge of case law and are easy to work with. They have had great success for their clients and I would recommend them to anyone. Great firm if you have a personal injury or other accident-type of case.

Jordan Powell and Susan Novosad, both of Levin & Perconti, are very gifted attorneys. They represented me following a traumatic incident in 2011 that resulted in serious physical and emotional injuries. The defendant was no lightweight and resisted many attempts to settle the case, resulting in a rare jury trial. Throughout the entire process, my family and I found Jordan and Susan to be consummate professionals. They were patient, kind, and attentive. From a legal perspective, they were insanely prepared and seasoned. We were humbled by how seriously they took the case, and by how much effort they poured into the many pre-trial affairs and courtroom proceedings. I recommend them and their firm without any hesitation to anyone seeking honest, steadfast representation.

This section analyzes your Google My Business optimization. It reports on a number of important criteria and benchmarks your website against the top 10 ranked businesses in your area. GMB is Google's listing and search product which contains listings of local businesses, organisations and places. Listings from GMB appear in organic search results and Google maps results on both desktop and mobile devices. This is why GMB is a hugely powerful marketing opportunity for local businesses - getting your optimization correct here is critical to attracting new, local customers.

This section analyzes the On-Site SEO factors that affect your ability to rank high in search engines.

On-Site SEO factors are elements of your website, either visible on the page or in the code of your website (which you can't see, but search engines can), which affect the site's search rankings. It's easier to improve SEO factors on your own site because you have control over it.

In this section we summarise the findings from all the pages that we audit on your site (max 200 pages). You can view page-specific results in the Appendix at the end of the report.

Summary

↑ View in Report

This report examines the key SEO factors which affect your ability to rank highly in search engines (e.g. Google). We review each factor and then display the findings in a set of easy-to-read tables. The report is divided into eight sections, each covering an important area of optimization.

We use a unique set of formulas to calculate a score for each section and convert this into an easy-to-read score of 'Good', 'OK' and 'Poor'.

We also provide an explanation about each SEO factor throughout the report. Just click on the '?' symbol to view these explanations.

Links & Website Authority

Google Index Count

↑ View in Report

Google Index Count shows you the number of pages that Google has indexed on your site. It's important that Google can index your site so it can 'read' your content to understand what you do/offer and return your business for relevant searches. You need to ensure that Google (and other search engines) can read all the pages that you want them to.

Link Count

↑ View in Report

Link Count is the number of links that lead from other websites through to yours. Links are very important in SEO - as a general rule, the more inbound links (aka backlinks) your site has, the more Authority it has and the higher it should rank. Links are an important factor in ranking in organic search results and local pack search results.

It's important that you have more links than your competitors and that these links come from sites that Google trusts.

Link count data is provided by moz.com.

Linking Domains

↑ View in Report

Linking Domains is the number of websites that link to your website. It's important to get as many different trusted websites to link to you as possible, as Google views these as 'votes' for your site/business. It's more powerful to have 100 links from 100 sites than it is to have 100 links from one site. It's also important that these sites are relevant to your business or location and/or have high Domain Authority (Google trusts these sites more).

You should also aim to have more sites linking to you than your competitors do, but ensure that they're sites that Google trusts and thinks are relevant to your business.

Linking Domain data is provided by moz.com.

Majestic C-Flow

↑ View in Report

C-Flow is a link-related score. It's calculated based on the number of inbound links your site has. The higher the C-Flow the better. You should aim to have a higher C-Flow score than your competitors.

C-Flow is provided by MajesticSEO.

Domain Authority

↑ View in Report

Domain Authority score is similar to 'Page Rank'. This score is a measure of the 'rankability' of your website and it considers over 150 different SEO signals. The higher your site's Domain Authority score, the higher it should rank. Having a higher score than your competitors is important. As you improve different areas of your SEO, your Domain Authority should increase as a direct result.

Domain Authority is provided by moz.com.

Website Age

↑ View in Report

This is the date your website was registered. Search engines trust older websites more than new websites.

Reputation Manager

Review Count by Star Rating ↑ View in Report

This chart shows you how many 1 star, 2 star, 3 star, 4 star and 5 star reviews you have across the top 5 sites.

Top Review Sites ↑ View in Report

This table shows you how many reviews you have on each site and what the star rating is for each site.

On-Site SEO

This is the measure of how quickly your landing page loads when viewed using a desktop device.

We get this score from Google's PageSpeed Insights API, which checks to see if the page uses common performance best practices to load quickly. The faster a page loads the better the experience for your users. Scores range from 0 to 100 points.

Robots.txt ↑ View in Report

Robots.txt is a file that sits in your website code. It tells Google which pages on your site to look at and which to ignore. It's important to have a robots.txt file to help Google index all the pages you want it to.

XML Sitemap ↑ View in Report

An XML sitemap is like a 'Contents' page for your website. It helps Google to properly index your site, giving it the best possible chance of ranking for relevant searches.

Errors ↑ View in Report

Errors are pages (URLs) on your site that return an error because they don't exist anymore or they have a problem. It's important to resolve these errors so that customers don't go to these broken/missing pages. Google can reduce the authority of your site if your error count is high.

Internal Links ↑ View in Report

Internal links connect pages on your site to each other. You can use links to tell Google lots about the content of your site.

URLs ↑ View in Report

We check your landing page for issues with URL canonicalization. Canonicalization is used to avoid duplication issues when a website has more than one different URL for the same page (e.g. if <http://www.example.com> and <http://example.com> display the same page but search engines see two different URLs). If this happens, search engines may be unsure about which URL is the correct one to index. Canonicalization tells search engines which page to list in SERPs.

Dynamic URLs are URLs which use symbols and characters (e.g. <http://www.example.com/fm/thread.php?threadid=62636&sort=date>) to form the URL rather than 'friendly' words. Static URLs use readable words (e.g. <http://www.example.com/forum/threads/learn-about-static-urls>) and are better for communicating the content of a page. This is better for customers, and for Google, because what the page is about is much clearer.

SSL ↑ View in Report

SSL is a common way to make websites more secure. Adding an SSL certificate to your site makes it safer for users to input data or

Each page on your site has a title which appears in the code of the page and tells Google what each page is about. It's a visible tag that appears in search results and on browser tabs, and it's a very download data because the transfer of that data is encrypted and harder to intercept.

Google has said that they will give priority in ranking to sites that use SSL over sites that do not.

Page Descriptions

↑ View in Report

Each page has a description which appears within the code of the page, and is visible in search results. Although Google doesn't see these descriptions as ranking factors, search terms appear in bold when they're displayed in search results, which attract the eye of searchers. Due to this, Page Descriptions should be unique to each page and contain your most important keywords.

Twitter Card Tags

↑ View in Report

Messages on Twitter are currently limited to 280 characters, which isn't much space to communicate your message. To help websites communicate more, Twitter developed Twitter Cards, which are based on tags that sit in the code of a web page. These enable website owners to provide a lot more information and include images, video and download links that appear inside Twitter. This allows your website's content to stand out much more in tweets that include it.

H Tags

↑ View in Report

H tags (or 'header' tags) sit in the code of your site and help to structure your page content in a way that highlights to Google the top-line keywords and topics the page covers. H1 tags (of which there should be only one per page) have a higher SEO value than H2 tags, H2 tags have a higher SEO value than H3 tags, and so on.

Flash

↑ View in Report

Flash is a multimedia platform that some websites still use, but that is soon to be deprecated by Adobe. We check your landing page to see if it uses Flash or not.

Google can't easily read Flash and it can block Google from indexing your site. Current website best practice is to avoid using Flash, and use HTML5 instead to achieve the same results. You'll also want to avoid the use of Flash because it doesn't work well (or at all) on mobile web browsers.

Mobile Friendly

↑ View in Report

With the majority of web browsing now happening on mobile devices it's important that your website works well for mobile users.

Adjusting the content layout is one way to make your site more usable. Other considerations are text size (bigger is better on mobile) and how easy it is for mobile users to click on buttons and links.

We obtain this data from Google's PageSpeed Insights API.

important factor in SEO. Page Titles should be unique to each page and contain your most important keywords.

Open Graph Tags

↑ View in Report

Open Graph protocol was developed by Facebook to give website owners an easy way to describe the content of a page so that Facebook can correctly read and reference it. Using Open Graph tags allows you to control what content is shown when a page is shared on Facebook.

Image Alt Tags

↑ View in Report

Alt Text is a method for adding a text description to an image. Search engines can't currently read images to determine their content reliably, so adding 'Alternative Text' lets you tell Google what the image is about. This is a useful way of reinforcing what a web page is about, and giving Google more relevant signals that have a positive impact on your SEO.

Word Count

↑ View in Report

We analyze all the pages on your site (max 200) and calculate the average number of visible words per page. We also track the pages that have less than 500 visible words per page.

Responsive Design

↑ View in Report

Having a 'responsive' website means the page width and content of each page auto-adjusts depending on the screen size of the device being used to view it. This gives the best possible experience to users who view your site on mobile devices, tablets and desktops. This is better for your users and will encourage them to stay on your site and visit more pages. Google looks favorably on sites that give users the best possible experience so this can have an impact on your search ranking.

Mobile Page Load Speed

↑ View in Report

This scores how quickly your landing page loads on a mobile device.

We obtain this data from Google's PageSpeed Insights API, which checks to see if a page has applied common performance best practices, and then reports back with a score of 0-100 points.

Mobile Rendering

↑ View in Report

These screenshots show how your landing page appears on mobile (left) and tablet (right) devices.

Phone Number

↑ View in Report

Having your Phone Number on your website is important for Google Local rankings. Google looks for a local phone number to confirm where your business is located and to make sure it's consistent across all other listings you might have.

Top Keywords

↑ View in Report

We analyze all the pages on your site (max 200) and filter the visible content to determine the most common keywords used. This is useful for ensuring that your site is truly focused on the right keywords so it's clear to Google what you offer and where you're located.

Physical Address

↑ View in Report

Having your physical address on your website is important for Google Local rankings. Google looks for an address on your site to confirm the address it has on record for you.

Schema.org Markup

↑ View in Report

Schema.org provides a set of common 'tags' that can be applied to common items on a website to make it clear to search engines what that content is. It's important to make your content easy to understand and using schema helps with this.

We specifically look to see if your business name, street address and phone number are 'marked up' with the correct Schema.org tags.

Analytic Tags

↑ View in Report

We check your site to see which website analytics solution you use (e.g. Google Analytics). We report on those that we find and if you're also making use of Google Tag Manager (GTM), which is a simple way of adding analytics tags to your code.

Social Channels

Facebook

↑ View in Report

Having a profile on Facebook is a way to showcase your business to customers and stay in regular contact with them. It is an effective channel to update customers about changes to your business and build a deeper relationship with them. Customers can leave reviews for you which will attract new customers to your business.

Twitter

↑ View in Report

Having an active profile on Twitter is a good way to build a following among customers, partners, suppliers, and connections. You can use Twitter to engage in conversations with customers, streamline customer support, and also communicate important updates about your business and what's going on in your area or industry.
